As the birthplace of the Wisconsin Idea, UW-Madison believes that the boundaries of the university extend to the state borders and beyond, and that everyone should benefit from the campus and its resources.

Likewise, we invite you to expand your classroom by taking advantage of all the experiential learning opportunities that await you and your students at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Our campus visits fit your curriculum:
UW-Madison, the state’s flagship university, has over 40,000 students and more than 900 acres to explore. We offer almost 9,000 courses in every area of study imaginable, so your students can see and do things on campus that are unique, educational, fun, and free or low-cost.

Campus and Visitor Relations is proud to showcase our university and expand your students’ education by offering customized tours and visits to every corner of campus.

This is just a sampling of the opportunities available -- Please visit info.wisc.edu to learn more.
Campus and Visitor Relations is here to help you and your students have a great experience at UW-Madison. We’ve coordinated hundreds of school field trips and can advise you on tour options, facilities, logistics and schedules. By taking care of the details, we allow you to focus on what really matters: teaching your students.

Our campus visits fit your budget:
Campus walking and bus* tours are always free to school and non-profit groups, but some campus visit options require a nominal fee per visitor. Please contact the Campus Visit Program at 608-265-9500 for additional rate information.

*Groups provide the bus.

Planning ahead to make the most of your visit:

- Please note that many of our campus venues and walking tours require a minimum of 10 guests.
- Schedule at least six weeks in advance. Many venues and activities can fill quickly during peak visit months (March, April, May, June, October).
- Realize access to campus destinations may be limited during particular times of the year due to university breaks, holidays and exam weeks. Please visit info.wisc.edu for the most up-to-date calendar.
- The size of your group and the amount of time you are able to spend on campus determines your destination options.
